(Founded in the 12th century.)

The school is one of the oldest institutions of the city, but the exact date of its origin is unknown; it is certain, however, that it was in existence before the University, for in records prior to the foundation of the latter, the Doctor of the Grammar School is honourably mentioned.

THE ROYAL TECHNICAL COLLEGE, GLASGOW.

Under the title of the Glasgow and West of Scotland Technical College, the college as now constituted was established in 1886 by an Order in Council amalgamating several old institutions, notably Anderson's College, founded in 1796, and the first technical college in the kingdom; the College of Science and Arts, the successor of the first Mechanics' Institute; the "Young" Chair of Technical Chemistry and the Atkinson Institution. In February, 1912, His Majesty King George V. honoured the college by directing that in future it should be known as "The Royal Technical College, Glasgow." The College offers complete courses of instruction in pure and applied science, and is specially designed to give the most suitable education to students intending to enter an industrial profession or trade. The College is affiliated to the University of Glasgow and the Degrees of the University in Applied Science are open to its students. Although the complete course of study extends over at least three years, students are at liberty to enter for any less period. The instruction in both day and evening classes is made as practical as possible, and there are fully equipped laboratories in the departments of physics, chemistry, technical chemistry, dyeing, sugar manufacture, metallurgy, mechanics, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering (including wireless telegraphy), mining, geology, textile manufacture, biology, bacteriology and navigation. The museums contain several important collections, and the library consists of about 20,000 volumes, including many valuable works. A reading room is provided in which may be consulted the current issues of the principal scientific and technical journals. There are many valuable bursaries and scholarships in connection with the College.

MR. W. H. HICKOX, Mus. Doc.: "I really think I have the best Church Organ I know—so round and mellow—not a harsh note, and full of dignity and grandeur."

MR. THOMAS BERRY, Mus. Doc.: "The material is so substantial and durable that the cost of upkeep and repairs is reduced to its lowest limit."

MR. J. T. PYE, F.R.C.O.: "Nothing could be more artistic and beautiful. I believe this 2-Manual Organ will quite outclass a large number of good 3-Manuals, both for variety and power."

MR. ENOS J. WATKINS, F.R.C.O.: "The tone throughout is beautiful, and the materials of the very best. In my opinion, your Spotted Metal Work will last twice as long as the ordinary Metal Work of other builders."

MR. ALEC ROWLEY, F.R.C.O.: "The great improvement in the Action is a fine piece of workmanship on your part."

MR. H. R. ELLIS COKER: "You have certainly made a very good job of the instrument, and it speaks well for the care you take with work entrusted to you."

Survey Gazetteer

OF THE

British Isles

TOPOGRAPHICAL, STATISTICAL AND COMMERCIAL.

The New Edition consists of about 800 pages, and contains Notices of about 82,000 Place-Names Over 12,000 Seats, Shooting Lodges and Mansion Houses. Also Names of Deer Forests, Fishing Lochs and Streams, and Grouse Moors throughout the Country.

Price 15s. net. Strongly bound in Buckram.

EDITED BY

J. G. BARTHOLOMEW, LL.D.

WITH APPENDICES AND ATLAS.

WHILST each branch of commerce and industry provides itself with works of reference suitable to its special requirements, a good, reliable and moderately-priced Gazetteer is a valuable and indispensable acquisition to every well-ordered commercial establishment. The new edition of this work has been described as a veritable multum in parvo of facts and figures, and is designed with the view of giving, in as compressed a form as is compatible with clearness, a full digest of all information that a business man is most in need of. The work is convenient in size, and contains about 82,000 names of parishes, cities, towns, villages, hamlets, seats, rivers, lakes, mountains, &c., arranged in strictly alphabetical order, while the population of each ecclesiastical parish, city, town, &c., is given. All railway stations are included, together with the system to which they belong, and places having a post or telegraph office are shown, while the particular industries of many places are mentioned.

There are also valuable Appendices containing an Etymology of British Place-Names, and numerous interesting statistical tables relating to shipping, agricultural returns, religions, education rainfall, temperature and other subjects.

The work is enhanced by a beautifully clear and complete ATLAS OF THE BRITISH ISLES, in 48 sections, on the scale of 10 miles to an inch. The Maps are all printed in full colouring to show counties, and form an exceedingly useful adjunct to the work.

Such a work should be in every library, and a prospectus with specimen page will be sent free on receipt of request.

A copy of MESSRS. BARTHOLOMEW'S Complete Catalogue of Maps and Atlases at all prices may also be had gratis on application.

THE

NORTH BRITISH AGRICULTURIST

ESTABLISHED 1843.

Published every Thursday. Price One Penny.

The "North British Agriculturist" has now for many years stood at the head of the Scottish agricultural press. It is a thoroughly practical newspaper circulating chiefly throughout Scotland, the North of England and North of Ireland, as well as amongst Scottish agriculturists in foreign and colonial countries. Advertisers are reminded that it reaches the monied rural classes, and this, coupled with an exceptionally large circulation, makes it unrivalled as a medium for announcing any advertisements connected with the great agricultural industry in North Britain.

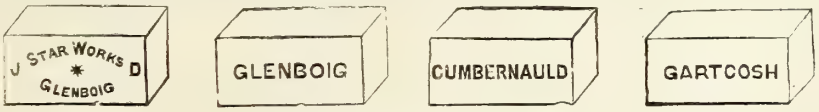
The Glenboig Company are the Sole Makers of the "GLENBOIG" and "STAR GLENBOIG" brands, which stand first among Fire Bricks, for the construction of all kinds of furnaces subjected to the highest heats and most sudden changes of temperature.

The use of these Bricks is found to be economical in districts of England where Fire Bricks are made and sold at half the price of the "Glenboig" brand; but how much more economical must they be when shipped abroad and where both qualities bear the same charge for carriage.

The "GARTCOSH" brand is largely used. The Company purchased these works for the purpose of meeting the demands of buyers who require a cheaper Fire Brick of good quality, and they offer it with confidence, knowing that it is unsurpassed by any other Fire Brick made in Scotland, excepting "Glenboig" alone.

All articles manufactured by the Company bear one or other of the undernoted Trade Marks—



Purchasers are recommended to see to it that the brand purchased is really stamped on the Goods, and not only on the lips or business paper of the seller.

GAS RETORTS—The great number of Glenboig Retorts now in use in the principal Gas Works at Home and Abroad is the best evidence of the high estimation in which this brand is held by Gas Engineers, who know the importance of using "Retorts that can be depended upon."

REMARKABLE TREATISE dedicated to the revered memory of the "Peacemaker," Edward VII.

COPIES GRATIS AND POST FREE.

A most movingly eloquent treatise on how to put an end to war for ever has been published by the "Citizens of the World." The book is remarkable for its outlining of a practicable Citizens of the World movement, having as its object the linking up of the nations into a world-wide brotherhood built upon a common interest in all peaceful pursuits. The treatise is exercising a strangely powerful influence upon its readers, and many eminent men and women have written in sympathy or support of the Citizens of the World movement. Every reader interested in the making the present war the last inhuman struggle should write for a copy of this treatise on How to Put an End to War for Ever, to

SOME OPINIONS.

Extract from the "LANCET."

"FIXOL. We have given this excellent Paste considerable practical trial with very satisfactory results. It consists of a modified Starch, manufactured in a special manner, which renders it glairy and, at the same time, tenacious, and is very clean to use. The Paste is quite permanent, and contains an agreeable antiseptic, and offers great advantages where large quantities are in constant use, as in newspaper offices and other places where labelling is required."

Messrs. CARTER'S SEED CO., write:

"We beg to state that 'FIXOL' gives us every satisfaction, and we are now using it in lieu of glue for making up our cardboard boxes."

Messrs. CROSSE & BLACKWELL, Ltd., write:

"'FIXOL' is the best medium we know of, and we propose to continue its use."

Messrs. SALMON & GLUCKSTEIN, Ltd., write:

"We have used 'FIXOL' for some considerable time for labelling purposes, and it has given us great satisfaction."

KELLY'S
Customs Tariffs
of the World.

This book is the most complete work which has ever been published in English, and indeed, probably in any language, giving the various Customs Tariffs in force throughout the world.

By the use of the Index, Exporters are enabled to see at a glance what duty, if any, is levied on any article imported into any country.

Tables of Foreign Moneys, Weights and Measures, with their English equivalents, are given.

H.B.M.'s Consuls in all parts of the World have in their annual reports to the Foreign Office, repeatedly pointed out the importance to British Manufacturers of making their communications with prospective customers in the language of those with whom they wish to establish business relations. The tariffs have therefore been arranged so as to show the duty on each article in the currency of the different countries.
